THE COCK INN

MENU AND WINE LIST

HISTORY OF THE COCK INN

The Cock Inn is one of the oldest Inns in England, built in about 1250 A.D.

It witnessed the preparation and aftermath of the Battle of Bosworth Field 1485 A.D. The death of Richard III and start of the Tudor Reign.

In 1735 A.D. the notorious highwayman Dick Turpin would return here after working the Watling Street, taking refuge in the bar chimney and stabling the horse in the cellar when pursuit was close at hand.

The lawn at the rear was the site of a Cockpit as recently as 1870.

The Inn was owned by The Church with a six day licence, was sold in 1953 and a seven day licence was granted in 1954.
